PCAC Brainstorms and Prioritizes Meeting Topics for Next Year

May 25, 2021

Though the topics suggested could not be posted on giant sheets of paper, and attendees could not spend sticky dots to indicate the ones they wanted to address in the coming year, those at the May Zoom meeting of Pasadena Citizens' Advisory Council (PCAC) brainstormed and prioritized program topics for the remainder of 2021 and early 2022. Fifteen topics were suggested during 15 minutes of brainstorming. Attendees then used a Zoom poll to choose the top 5 of these subjects to put on agendas of the community-industry forum in the next 12 months.

In the top 5 were two tours that PCAC will try to schedule once the group meets again in person. The tours were of the US Coast Guard station at Ellington Field and the PortHouston educational tour of the Houston Ship Channel on the MV Sam Houston. Others in the top five included a refresher on the work of Channel Industries Mutual Aid, data on the top 5 occupational injuries and illnesses in the Pasadena area, and Pasadena's flood control plans and safeguards to mitigate risks from flooding at plants.

PCAC will form a Program Planning Committee to develop meeting plans for the topics of greatest interest. Also included in the plan will be presentations of the Annual Report on Emissions from PCAC Plants in the fall and the Annual Report on Worker Safety in PCAC Plants in February. Readers are welcome to attend PCAC meetings and email suggestions for the community-industry forum. Contact info@pasadenacac.org for details.
